Works on PC and Mac

Although you are looking at Mac X screenshots, Audition Manager works exactly the same way on a PC. Even the data files can be shared between platforms.

PC and Mac versions are supplied for one purchase price.

Add A Group Remove Bottom Group

Audition Manager will assign each judge a number based on your criteria in the Setup/Judge module.

Different scoring criteria can be set up for each category. In this list there you'll notice that winds use one scoring set and percussion another. The Setup/Scoring module allows you to specify scoring values.

You'll likely find listed all the categories necessary for judging choirs, bands, and orchestras. If you need one for basket weaving, you can add that by clicking the "Add a Category" button at the bottom of the screen.

Turn each category that you're going to use on by checking in this column.

Type the number of judges for each category: 1 to 5.

If you'd like to drop the high/low judge score, check this column.

The computer tracks the number of students registered and auditioned for each category.

The last columns allow you to specify how many will be selected for each performing group.

Add A Category Create Companion File for Remote Registration Remove Bottom Category

If there's a category not on the list, you can add as many as you need by clicking this button.

When you purchase Audition Manager, you also receive Remote Registration which allows each director to register his students at his desk in his office and send that data to you via the internet. For him to do that, he'll need the Remote Registration and the companion file created by this button. The companion file tells Audition Manager which categories will be used at the audition event.

There's no extra charge for Remote Registration. Both Mac and PC versions will be supplied.

Click "Add A Category" too many times? Click here to remove.

This column indicates the judges and their assignments.

The number of students that will be judged by each judge.

Auditions begin at this time.

Optional, the end time can be specified.

You may specify the minimum and maximum time that should be allowed for each audition. Audition Manager can then calculate the amount of time needed for each audition.

You may specify up to five breaks and the number of minutes for each. Here, the judges will get 60 minutes off for lunch.

If you've specified the begin and end times and all students have been registered, click here to calculate the time necessary for each judge.

After clicking "Adjust Time," click here to actually apply the new schedule to the student list.

The number of students that have been scored.

When using the Chatsworth Optical Card Reader, this floating window will help track which cards have been feed when using more than one judge per audition. Green indicates that the card for a judge has been successfully feed. Red indicates that card has not yet been feed. White indicates this judge is not required.

This screen will fill up as you score students. Clicking the “Group” heading will automatically assign students with high enough scores to the appropriate performing group in the correct order. Add A Student Delete Selected Student

First, complete all director information.

Click here to add a student.

When the director is finished adding students to the registration list, click save (not shown). This creates a registration file on the desktop. Attach this file to an email and send to the chairman of the event. This allows for fast, accurate processing of all registration data.
